

Tenant Alert

2024 Seattle Cruise Ship Season Starts April 6th Updated Cruise Ship Schedule

March 22, 2024

Hello Market Community,

As we welcome another busy cruise season in two weeks, we want your business to be prepared for the influx of new customers. The Port of Seattle has released an updated 2024 cruise ship schedule, linked below. Seattle will host 275 scheduled sailings bringing an estimated 1.7 million revenue passengers through the two cruise ship terminals. This year, a third cruise berth located at Pier 66 will also offer shore power. This will make Port of Seattle one of the first ports in the world with three renewable shore power berths for cruise ships.

Seattle is considered a Homeport for Alaska-bound ships, the ships depart and return to after completing its Alaska itinerary. This year Seattle has five Port of Calls on the schedule – three dates in spring and two in fall. Please mark these dates on your schedule as this means Seattle is a stop for the day and passengers will get off the boat at 7am and then return to the boat in the evening (times vary per ship).

Port of Call Dates (as of 3/14/24 schedule)

- Friday, 4/19
- Tuesday, 4/30
- Tuesday, 4/30
- Sunday, 9/29 – Two ships
- Monday, 10/28

Download the 2024 Cruise Schedule

The schedule can also be found on the Market Tenant Dashboard. This is your all-in-one resource for news, updates, and programs related to Market businesses with content curated just for you.

Questions?

Email Info@PikePlaceMarket.org